Dear Tim:

Intelligence Agents finally got to me after a lengthy detour through the Advocate. Thank you for having it sent to me.

The concept of neurogeography is much clearer to me now. I can recall a small talk I presented to a friend's class on "Androgyny" about Global Androgyny: i.e. the idea that the East/West dichotomy was becoming blurred as a result of planetary electronics (straight out of McLuhan, of course).

Speaking of which, the Applied McLuhanism of T.I.A. was well done. Kudos to the designer(s).

I'm interested in exploring an editorial position with you. Right now I'm having some difficulty getting responses from my agent in NY concerning new book projects (computer-related). Also the book itself is not going as fast as I would like.

My current answer to your question is: Stage 16 (Circuit 6)

Enclosed is a memo on a new book. It was written on a computer and the author claims it is a statement of his religion (currently).

As soon as the Wilsons have finished with their copy of my MS, I will ship it down to you.

Hugs to Z and B.

D.
